Re: Des Nixon and associates

I was approached to write a reference letter for the builders, Des Nixon and associates (DNA). It is without hesitation that I recommend them to any business.

In July of 2003, DNA commenced a major refurbishment of our Radiology department. This occurred in stages to allow us to keep our business operating.

The entire project was completed within the proposed time frame and with a minimum of interruption to our daily business. The tradesmen were tidy, friendly and mindful of the impact they could have on the function of our department. What we would have never anticipated was the disappointment we felt when the project was complete and the tradesman had to leave. They had integrated in to our team so well.

I make particular reference to the onsite project coordinator assigned to our project. Chris Bato was pivotal in the success of our project and at all stages knew every facet of the job and managed any difficulties with a reassuring calm. Never have I worked with a builder who has kept such long hours.

I welcome anyone to contact me who may wish to further discuss Des Nixon and associates.

Yours sincerely
